

CONTENTS

Prologue: From Equal Rights to Full Rights	1
PART I. CITIZENS OF THE WORLD
1 Sitting at the “Common Table”	15
2 A Higher “Standard of Life” for the World	51
PART II. DREAMS DEFERRED
3 A “Parliament of Working Women”	77
4 Social Justice under Siege	102
5 Pan-Internationalisms	124
PART III. NEW DEALS
6 Social Democracy, American Style	155
7 A Women’s “New Deal for the World”	189
PART IV. UNIVERSAL DECLARATIONS
8 Wartime Journeys	223
9 Intertwined Freedoms	255
10 Cold War Advances	294

PART V. REDREAMINGS

11	The Pivotal Sixties	339
12	Sisters and Resisters	380
	Epilogue: Of the Many, By the Many, For the Many	415

Acknowledgments 427

Abbreviations 435

Notes 445

Index 551

PROLOGUE

From Equal Rights to Full Rights

Leonora O'Reilly. Pencil on paper, 1912, by Wallace Morgan. Courtesy of the National Portrait Gallery, Smithsonian Institution.

For the Many is a story of how women changed American politics and moved the United States and the world in a more egalitarian, social democratic direction. A politics for the many, not the few, predominated among politically active US women for much of the twentieth century. Understanding how they and their global allies created a more just and inclusive democracy changes the way we think about the past and future of American politics and America's relation to the world. Over the course of the last century and against great odds, the women profiled in For the Many articulated a transforming social vision, moved into positions of economic and political power at home and abroad, and enacted reforms of lasting value.

For the Many tells the story of individual women. Yet it is not a book celebrating individual heroism or the deeds of great women. It is what might be called a collective biography. Famous women—Jane Addams, Eleanor Roosevelt, and Frances Perkins, to name a few—grace these pages and were indispensable to the intellectual and political revolutions of their day. But just as much attention is given to other women, many from less privileged backgrounds, who traveled alongside them. The courage, inventiveness, and stamina of women like Rose Schneiderman, Mary McLeod Bethune, Frieda Miller, Maida Springer, Esther Peterson, and countless others propelled the struggle for democratic equality. This is a story of women, famous and not so famous, who acted together to change the world.

I began my research thinking the egalitarian, social democratic traditions of American women, little understood and often underestimated, worthy of reconsideration. After more than a decade I feel that way even more strongly. Today, much of what the women in For the Many believed and accomplished is under assault. Yet as writer Zadie Smith insisted in 2016, as she accepted a literary prize a few days after Donald Trump's election to the US presidency, "history is not erased by change, and the examples of the past still hold out new possibilities for all of us."¹

The women at the heart of this book sought women's rights in a fairer, more democratic world. They were feminists because they believed women faced disadvantages as a sex—a perspective not widely shared in their day—and they sought to end those disadvantages. Yet they wanted more than equality between men and women. They wanted a world where all women and men could thrive. To capture their multi-stranded politics, I refer to them throughout the text as “full rights” or “social democratic” feminists. I adopt the modifier “full rights,” their phrase, to foreground their desire for the full array of rights and their belief that civil and political rights are intertwined with social and economic. Real equality, they judged, must be substantive, universal, and multidimensional. I place them in the social democratic tradition because they held fast to economic and political democracy, sought to curb the power of elites, and believed progress must be social.²

Yet full rights feminists and their social democratic politics turn up under different labels as For the Many moves through the twentieth century: “socialist” or “progressive” in the early decades, “New Deal liberal” or “social democrat” in the middle decades, and “left-liberal Democrat” or “democratic socialist” in the 1960s and after. Some labels persist; others drop by the wayside. I adopt these and other labels when appropriate, but not without trepidation. Our political labels, past and present, are frustratingly imprecise and change meaning over time.³ Nor do such labels adequately convey the complexity, contradictions, or dynamism of the politics of individual people or of the communities in which they lived and worked. But whatever their label, the central figures in For the Many shared a desire for a more egalitarian, democratic world, and they fashioned institutions, laws, and social policies in the United States and abroad to realize those aspirations.

This is a book about women’s politics, but it is not just about women. Men too advanced the ideas recounted here and at times proved indispensable allies. The women in For the Many organized alongside men in grassroots movements for democracy and social justice. They also joined with like-minded men in various political parties. Before the 1930s, full rights feminists could be found as often in the Progressive, Socialist, or Republican Parties as in the Democratic. But after the transformation of the Democratic Party in the 1920s—a revolution led by women—they operated largely within the New Deal framework and saw the Democratic Party as the principal political vehicle carrying forward their broad egalitarian aspirations. From the 1930s to the 1970s, coterminous with the heyday of American social democracy, they pursued their aims in the elite governing spaces usually reserved for men, serving as cabinet officers, members of Congress, high-ranking diplomats, and delegates to intergovernmental assemblies. At the same time, they continued to bolster democratic labor and civic organizations outside of government, believing pressure from “below” kept states responsive to the majority.

Full rights feminists were not always at home in male-dominated political realms or movements. Nor were they always welcomed. Men were adversaries as well as allies. Women were denied political rights both before and after the enactment of the Nineteenth Amendment prohibiting voting restrictions on the basis of sex. Equally frustrating, male-led parties and movements ignored women’s voices, underplayed the disadvantages women faced as a sex, and mistook masculine norms and aspirations as universal. In response, female activists organized separately from men, even as they continued to participate in predominantly male organizations. They constructed women’s committees, caucuses, and divisions inside grassroots movements and political parties. They established independent organizations and created all-female networks. This tradition of female political separatism was strongest in the early twentieth century and reemerged in the 1970s, but it never wholly disappeared. Women from different classes, cultures, religions, and racial groups participated in this female world, and a surprising number of immigrant and working-class women held positions of political and intellectual leadership in it.

Still, some of the stiffest opposition faced by full rights feminists came from other women, including other feminists. Divisions among US feminists intensified after the passage of the Nineteenth Amendment, and for the next half-century American feminism split into warring camps. From the 1920s to the 1970s, full rights feminists joined with others in a “social feminist” coalition to oppose the National Woman’s Party and its allies.⁴ Full rights feminists judged the National Woman’s Party, with its unwavering single focus on “equal rights,” or formal legal equality between the sexes, as narrow, individualistic, and elitist. In their view, the pursuit of women’s rights in tandem with other broad social reforms was necessary for the majority of women to advance. Only by confronting multiple and intertwined injustices, they argued, could the problems of the many, men as well as women, be solved. The war between the two camps, symbolized by conflict over the Equal Rights Amendment, subsided in the 1970s, but US feminism has continued into the twenty-first century as a contentious, multifaceted movement.

Full rights feminists also battled with conservatives—men and women, feminists and non-feminists—on some of the great social and economic issues of the day. They clashed with conservatives over the desirability of social welfare and labor legislation; the role of the state in constraining corporate power and ensuring shared prosperity; and the rights due workers, immigrants, and people of color. Because they wanted greater democracy and more socialized markets, they disagreed with those who found authoritarian workplaces or unregulated cut-throat capitalism acceptable. They parted ways too with isolationists and go-it-alone nationalists—and not so amicably—over the extent and nature of America’s responsibilities in the world, its relation to international institutions and alliances, and how best to achieve global stability and peace.

At the same time, they took issue with those on the left who espoused revolutionary violence, or who, after the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917, conflated socialism with Soviet-style Communism. They rejected authoritarianism from the left and right, opposing the dictatorship of any person or class. They pursued egalitarian reforms through democratic means: popular education, the ballot box, democratic trade unionism, and legislative policy making. They chose nonviolent direct action: marches, strikes, sit-ins, and boycotts. Physical force was a last resort, and for some, never justified. Armed struggle and one-party rule, they believed, were weapons of the arrogant and the unimaginative—better to change hearts and minds through moral suasion and democratic debate.

For the Many is a global story. American politics has never been “American-made.” It sprang from the foreign born and the native born, from noncitizen and citizen, from those who visited the United States for days or stayed years, and from those who never set foot on US soil. The world made America, as Eric Rauchway once put it, and to study American politics one must see its borders as porous and its history affected by global ideas, peoples, and events.⁵ For the Many foregrounds the cross-class, multicultural, and multiracial character of social democratic women's movements inside the United States and sees activists outside it as crucial shapers of US women's politics. Social democratic women forged alliances across geographical borders and built international institutions to move forward their reforms. They learned from women and men in other countries. They believed America's problems could not be solved apart from the world.

In writing this book, I followed the thread of US women's social democratic politics over time and across place, surprised by where it led, heartened by what I found. I picked up the thread as it sprang into view in the years before the First World War. I held on as it crossed borders of nation and culture and into places I had only, and at times wrongly, imagined. I crisscrossed the globe, daunted by the difficulties of international travel and cross-cultural communication. I visited immaculately restored castles and overgrown empty fields, searching for where American full rights feminists and their allies had gathered. I found traces in archival folders delivered by mistake and in mislabeled boxes I opened as an afterthought. Some of my most important discoveries happened when I visited the wrong archive or took the wrong elevator to rooms rarely frequented. I found out more about the "famous" in the untouched letters of the "obscure" than from many days sorting through the voluminous, carefully arranged papers of the "notable." I lived in countries not my own for long stretches, experiencing some of the fear, disorientation, loneliness, and exhilaration uprooting can bring. How much more intense were those feelings for the women in this book, American born and otherwise, whose sojourns in nations not their own extended for years or lasted a lifetime.

In the end, I returned home to an America much in need of the wisdoms of its social democratic foremothers. They too lived in a world of stark inequality and diminishing democracy. They too despaired at the cruelty of political tyrants and the selfishness of capitalist elites. And they too pondered the seemingly intractable hierarchies of race, nation, sex, and culture. Their solutions to these problems, though partial, bear revisiting.

Today, few dispute the great chasm separating rich and poor nations. But it has taken longer to recognize the severity of economic inequality within nations, including within wealthy nations like the United States, where the maldistribution of income and wealth ranks among the worst in the world.⁶ The full rights feminists in For the Many made solving economic inequality a top priority, and to their credit they sought a fairer distribution of the world's wealth both within and between nations. Diminishing the stark inequalities in US society meant thinking seriously about America's role abroad and how its international policies affected others. US prosperity rested on global prosperity, which in turn depended on flourishing economies in other nations and raising income and standards of life worldwide.

Economic reform, they determined, could not happen without an intellectual revolution. Full rights feminists began their assault on economic inequality in the early twentieth century by attacking the social Darwinist beliefs that justified it. Extreme inequality and mass poverty were not the inevitable result of hereditary differences between the poor and the rich, they insisted. Nor were such problems the product of "natural" market laws, as conventional economic theories of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries held. Economic stratification as well as class and race hierarchies were man made, they proclaimed, and therefore could be unmade. The intellectual revolution they pushed forward enabled the social transformations of the 1930s and later. Today's resurgent social Darwinism, with its fictional gospel of unalterable market dynamics, engrained racism, and class condescension, must again be dislodged if we are to move toward economic fairness and shared prosperity.

Their proposals for lessening economic inequality varied as economic circumstances and political opportunities shifted over the course of the century. Yet some premises did not change: the US economy could not be walled off from the world, and no single remedy would suffice. To tackle inequality at home and abroad, they pressed for a package of reforms. They called for the rights of workers to organize and bargain in the United States and other countries; regulation of domestic and global economies; higher international social and labor standards; and fairer, more democratic systems for determining the rules of state and workplace governance. They believed in the economic benefits of regulated trade and immigration. They defended workers' freedom of movement across borders and argued for the full rights of men and women of all races, religions, and nationalities. Poverty and oppression anywhere, they insisted, threatened living standards and freedoms everywhere.

Ensuring democracy in all realms of society—in government, at work, at home, and in the community—loomed just as large in their politics as fixing the economy.⁷ They looked to states, intergovernmental bodies, and international organizations as crucial vehicles for economic and social reform and demanded that they be democratized. Yet they never stopped encouraging organization from below. They sought democratic decision-making at work and the freedoms—the right to vote, to free speech, to freely assemble, and to a free press—necessary for civil society to flourish. They created socially inclusive grassroots organizations within and across national boundaries to sustain democracy and promote the full representation of all people.

At times, their democratic experiments languished, and authoritarianism gained the upper hand, claiming to be the better route to redistributing wealth and providing economic security. Yet the full rights feminists in For the Many refused to abandon democracy, as messy and frustrating as it was. They believed democratic states, if guided by and beholden to democratic labor and community organizations, could do much to ensure a fair share of wealth and power to the world's many.

As fascism spread in the 1930s, the struggle for human rights took on added urgency among social reformers. Yet for many full rights feminists, defending the rights of all people, regardless of race, religion, nationality, or citizenship status, had always been a priority. For some, deeply held religious beliefs in the sanctity of each person motivated their human rights advocacy. Support for human rights flowed as well from secular beliefs in fairness and social justice and from personal, painful experiences of exclusion and persecution. From early in the twentieth century, full rights feminists conceived of human rights broadly to encompass economic and social guarantees as well as civil and political rights. And by mid-century, as women of color moved into positions of leadership in the movement, human rights came to mean ending the global color line and extending self-government to colonized peoples.

None of the goals of full rights feminists—economic justice, democracy, or human rights—could be achieved apart from education. Educating the mind and cultivating the spirit were not afterthoughts. Democratic workplaces and governments required an educated citizenry. A fairer world rested on expanding human capacities for compassion, empathy, and tolerance. Without that, politics—whether left, right or center—could dehumanize and demean. Social democratic feminists pioneered urban settlement houses such as Chicago’s Hull House where rich and poor, native-born and immigrant, engaged in sustained cross-cultural learning. They also created emancipatory education programs for women workers in community centers, workplaces, and college campuses across the country. The most famous of these experiments in democratic pedagogy and social solidarity, the Bryn Mawr Summer School for Women Workers in Industry, lasted from 1921 to 1938. A multiracial group of participants from the eight-week residential Bryn Mawr school look back at us from the cover of For the Many. Taken after students voted in 1925—with the Second Ku Klux Klan at its peak nationwide—to open the school to all women, the image evokes the school’s egalitarian spirit and its dedication to resisting prejudice and hate. Bryn Mawr—and the many other education programs encouraged by full rights feminists—proved pivotal in fostering a liberatory, inclusive women’s movement.

To be sure, the women in For the Many did not always live up to the democratic and inclusive ideals they espoused, nor did their actions always have the desired effects. They could be ethnocentric and misguided, endorsing policies that sustained rather than dismantled inequities. Power imbalances and hierarchical notions of nations and peoples affected their choices and at times blinded them to the needs and realities of others. How to reconcile the competing demands of near and far, of local and global, was hardly self-evident. Still, many rejected the dominant imperial, racist, and elitist presumptions of their day.⁸ Immigrant women and women of color tended to see peoples beyond US borders not as “them” but as “us.” Religious and moral values also nourished cosmopolitan proclivities and propelled many toward more egalitarian alliances. They traveled, they learned, they changed. They navigated differences within their own ranks over how to address the deep and abiding tensions of social class, religion, and race. They adopted ideas from those they admired and understood, as well as from those they underestimated and misunderstood. Mutually beneficial outcomes could and did occur.⁹

The story of US women’s social democratic politics over the last century was not one of ever upward progress. It moved in fits and starts, with tragic detours and dispiriting defeats alongside celebrations and gains. For the Many opens with the rise of US women’s organizing for political inclusion and economic justice in the early twentieth century—a pivotal era for working women’s politics at home and abroad. In the wake of World War I, US full rights feminists deepened their transnational connections with labor and social democratic women outside the United States and won surprising victories on the global stage. Political advance slowed in the 1920s in the face of resurgent conservatism at home and thwarted alliances abroad. Yet as American women remade the US Democratic Party in the late 1920s and built dynamic multiracial left-leaning movements from below in the 1930s, democratic egalitarianism revived in the United States, even as much of the world slipped into authoritarianism. From the 1930s to the 1970s, social democratic feminists secured far-sighted and consequential reform. In an oft-repeated and troubling pattern, however, some of the policies closest to their heart, especially those boosting social and economic guarantees, won more adherents abroad than at home. The late twentieth century witnessed widening inequalities among women as well as men, and a feminism for the many remained in the wings, waiting for its next entry onto the stage.

Authoritarian regimes have ascendancy in many regions and nations in the twenty-first century, spewing forth their messages of hate and fear. Yet a new politics of the many has also emerged. There is a new openness to egalitarian and social democratic ideas among a wide swath of Americans. Women, especially women of color and young women, are energized politically and are shifting the conversation about how the US government treats its own citizens and how it interacts with the rest of the world. An alternative politics, premised on social solidarity, inclusion, and equity, is vying to take back parliaments and presidencies. For the Many seeks to enrich our understandings of these lost egalitarian traditions and argues for their potential in navigating a way forward.

INDEX

Pages in italics indicate photograph or illustration.

- Abbott, Edith, 21
- Abbott, Grace, 48, 69, 104, 109, 162, 168–69, 200, 212, 457n100, 469n73
- Abzug, Bella, 385–86, 403, 541n49
- Addams, Jane, 16–18, 21, 24, 36, 46, 52, 102–3, 107–8, 118, 134, 447n8, 471n14, 483n19
- Adenowo, Agnes, 369
- Adkins v. Children’s Hospital*, 120
- Advance, The*, 227
- African American Labor Institute*, 263
- African Americans, 24, 30, 112, 164, 181, 339.
See also Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters; civil rights; National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP); National Association of Colored Women (NACW); National Council of Negro Women (NCNW); racism and discrimination
- agriculture and agricultural workers, 56, 85–86, 119, 173–75, 232, 352, 361, 486n56
- Alegría Garza, Paula, 249, 253, 356, 359
- Ali, Begum Hamid, 268
- All-African Peoples’ Conference (1958), 331
- All Africa Trade Union Federation, 369
- Allende, Salvador, 382
- All India Trade Union Congress, 59–60, 131, 263, 274
- All India Women’s Conference, 131, 260, 263–4
- Alvarez, Sonia E., 416
- Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America (Amalgamated), 22, 175, 178, 181, 225–27, 232, 247, 287, 297
- American Anti-Imperialist League, 138
- American Center for International Labor Solidarity, 408
- American Economic Review*, 252, 289
- American Federation of Labor (AFL): Bill of Rights (1919), 46; Canada, delegates to, 137–38; and China, 133; exploited and low-paid workers, 176; and fair labor standards, 171; “federal labor unions,” 84, 104–5; Free Trade Union Committee, 513n90; Great Depression policies, 194–95; and IFTU, 77, 81; and ILO, 46; International Bill of Trade Union Rights, 278–79, 283; Labor League for Human Rights, 225–26; and Latin America, 138–40; Laundry Workers Union of, 181; membership, 452n55; policies, 41, 104–5, 166, 461n41, 499n11; and Sender, 256, 513n86; UN consultancy status, 274, 512n84; and WTUL, 18, 33, 103–4
- American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organization (AFL-CIO), 376, 409, 528n136; all-male US delegations, 407; anti-Communism of, 330, 367–68, 393, 407–8; guns and butter credo, 372; and ICFTU, 369, 408; and ICFTU Women’s Committee, 364–66; International Department, 408; and J. Miller, 407; and New Left, 371; and Peterson, 340–41, 377; Shailor

- American Federation of Labor (continued) at Solidarity Center, 421; and Springer, 329, 355, 366–67; Women's Department, 544n80; women's role in, 394
- American Institute for Free Labor Development (AIFLD), 368, 535n95
- American Labor Party, 227, 489n92, 490n7
- American Negro Leadership Conference on Africa, 350
- American Women* (PCSW report), 343–44, 346
- Anarchism, 88, 182. See also syndicalism
- Anderson, Mary, 208; and Addams, 483n19; and AFL, 195; background of, 22; and Bethune, 163; and Bondfield, 98, 452n52; and China, 132; Communist charge, 169; conservative target, 102, 123; defense of FDR, 155; diversity work, 111–12; and ERA, 121–22; and ERT, 203, 205; European contacts, 99; FBI investigation, 501n56; in France, not ILC (1931), 195–97; French labor statement, 44; and French labor women, 43; full employment, 289; and IFTU, 94; at ILC (1919), 387; and ILO, 13, 45, 195, 198–200, 252–53, 496n97, 505n117; and Latin America, 142, 234; and Lima Declaration, 216–17; mixed sex organizations, 286; and NWP, 202; at Pan-American women's conference (1922), 143; at Pan-Pacific Women's Conference (1928), 134; and Pan-Pacific Women's Conferences, 136; rate for the job, 273; and Schneiderman, 47, 456nn96–97; on SC minimum wage ruling, 120; in Sweden, 469n76; and Tanaka Taka, 73, 130; and van Kleeck, 191; and Wilson, 42; and Winslow, 232, 497n116; and WLC, 54, 74; Woman in Industry Service, 37; and Women's Bureau, 50, 162, 523n72; and Women's Charter, 190; and WTUL, 19, 22, 39–40, 42–43, 453n65; and YWCA Industrial Department, 55. See also Women's Charter (WC)
- Anderson, Will, 34
- Anglero, Teresa, 182
- Annals, The*, 199
- anticolonialism, 36, 46, 59–60, 106, 125–26, 131, 182, 236–37, 247–55, 261–65, 315, 327–31, 339, 350. See also, among other entries, Bethune; India; Pan-Africanism; Springer; Third World
- anticommunism, 103, 291, 382; and AFL, 80, 320–21; and AFL-CIO, 330, 367–68, 407; left varieties of 277–78, 296–300, 371; and McCarthyism, 270, 294, 299–300; and NWP, 288–89. See also anti-radicalism; Cold War; conservatism
- anti-discrimination, 225–29, 292–93, 334–35, 361. See also antiracism; civil rights; human rights
- antiracism, 16, 29–30, 55–56, 110–14, 163–64. See also anti-discrimination; civil rights; human rights
- anti-radicalism, 45, 47, 49–50, 66, 102–3, 122–23, 169–71. See also anticommunism; conservatism
- antiwar activism, 36, 40, 103, 108, 229, 370–71, 385, 404
- Araiza, Carmen Maria, 327
- Argentina, 58, 125, 140–41, 203, 232, 234–36, 238, 311, 502n64; Central de Trabajadores Argentinos (CTA), 413; Female Sex Workers' Association (AMMAR), 413; Unión Argentina de Mujeres (Argentine Women's Union), 217
- Argentine Socialist Party, 141, 235, 460n23
- Ashby, Margery Corbett, 269
- Ashwood, Amy, 125
- Athavale, Parvatibai, 58–61, 78, 130–31, 461n27
- Atlantic Charter, 230, 254, 256, 262
- Attlee, Clement, 243
- Australia, 31–32, 78, 89, 135–36, 194, 268, 284, 515n123; Australian Women's Charter Conference, 258; Labour Party, 31, 194
- Austria, 85, 100, 324

- Bachelet, Michelle, 417
- Bacon, Ruth, 390
- Bae-tsung Kyong, 134–35
- Balabanoff, Angelica, 88, 466n34
- Balch, Emily Greene, 15, 127
- Balmaceda, Esperanza, 217, 497n115
- Bandung Conference, 296, 328–29
- Bangladesh Independent Garment Workers Union Federation (BIGUF), 419, 421, 548n18
- Barbados, 179, 317
- Barnes, George N., 40, 42
- Barrow, Nita, 401
- Baruch, Bernard, 268
- Bass, Elizabeth Merrill, 50
- Beal, Frances, 376
- Beard, Mary Ritter, 209, 214–15
- Begtrup, Bodil, 266, 269, 282
- Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action, 403–6
- Bellanca, Dorothy, 232, 247
- Belmont, Alva, 146–47, 480n77
- Berle, Adolph, 216
- Bernardino, Minerva, 202, 217, 237–39, 257–58, 264, 282, 507n10
- Berne Agreement (1906), 40, 63
- Berne Conference (1919), 40–41, 43–44
- Berne Conference of Socialist and Labour Women (1915), 36, 88, 276
- Bethune, Mary McLeod, background of, 112–13; and “Black Cabinet,” 164; Communist charges, 261–62; at Daytona Literary and Industrial School for Training Negro Girls, 75; and Eleanor Roosevelt, 184; and Height, 350; and ICWDR, 126; “My Last Will and Testament,” 315; and NCNW, 175, 391–92; Office of Negro Affairs, 163; and Pandit, 264; and Republican Party, 163; and Springer, 246; travel to Africa, 315; and UN, 314; at UN founding, 256, 262–64; on Women’s Charter, 211
- Beveridge, William, 194, 241
- Bevin, Ernest, 241, 243
- Beyer, Clara Mortenson, 162, 164, 247, 312, 387, 523n68
- Bhatt, Ela, 394, 410
- Bhave, Vinoba, 384
- “Black Women’s Manifesto, A” (Beal), 376
- Blair, Emily Newell, 156
- Bondfield, Margaret, 13, 89, 99, 154, 224, 452n48, 523n72; and AFL, 44, 456n93; and Anderson, 452n52; background of, 33–34, 240; at Berne Conference, 36; and British Communist Party, 466n32; British labor leader, 33; domestic worker charter, 503n81; European antipathy to Moscow, 88; and IFWW, 92–93; and ILC, 70, 457n99; and ILO, 249; and Miller, 314; Minister of Labour, 98, 193, 198; Parliamentary role, 94, 98; personal, 40; post WWII social democracy, 284; and Robins, 94; and Schneiderman, 45; suffrage speaker, 41; travel to America, 194; travel to Russia, 88; and WLC, 57–58, 64–65, 67; women’s group mergers, 91; and WTUL, 44–45, 98, 129
- Boschek, Anna, 79, 84, 100, 197–98, 304
- Bose, Maitreyee, 302–3
- Boserup, Ester, 388
- Bouillot, Georgette, 43, 57, 82
- Bouvier, Jeanne: background of, 43; and Bryn Mawr Summer School, 115; and Eleanor Roosevelt, 55; and IFTU, 93; and IFWW, 90; and ILC, 70, 86, 89, 109; views of, 82, 88, 97, 99, 480n75; and WLC, 57, 65–66
- Branting, Hjalmar, 99
- Bravo, Marcia, 391
- Brazil, 125, 144, 233, 258, 505n113, 548n16; Brazilian Federation for the Advancement of Women, 144
- Breckinridge, Sophonisba, 21, 265
- Brent, Charles Henry, 159
- Bretton Woods, 253–54, 505n123
- Brezhnev, Leonid, 371
- Bricker, John W., 314
- Bridges, Harry, 169–71

- Britain: Beveridge Report, 241; Britain's Royal Commission on Equal Pay, 288, 521n35, 521n46; "home help services," 290, 517n141; national health insurance, 284, 515n121; National Health Service Act, 309; post WWII social democracy, 284–85; Representation of the People Act, 1918, 454n74; visas for Nazi victims, 226; welfare state, 192
- British Communist Party, 88, 466n32
- British Fabian socialists, 31
- British Independent Labour Party, 33, 452n49
- British Labour Party, 34, 88, 91, 99, 106, 192–93, 240–41, 284, 452n49
- British Trades Union Congress, 32–33, 44
- British WTUL, 32–34, 70
- Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters, 113, 186, 227, 499n20
- Browder, Earl, 510n48
- Brown v. Board of Education*, 344
- Bryn Mawr Summer School for Women Workers, 9, 113, 115–17, 182–84, 277, 301, 318, 330, 473n32
- Bunch, Charlotte, 404
- Burniaux, Hélène, 93–94, 101
- Burroughs, Nannie H., 56, 112, 120
- Burrow, Sharan, 418
- Butler, Harold, 68, 89, 199, 207
- Callahan, Mary, 343
- Caminade, Denise, 319
- Canada, 31, 58, 80, 137–38, 273, 284, 318, 515n123
- Cannon, Mary, 224, 234–39, 501n56, 502n67
- Capetillo, Luisa, 140
- Carey, Jim, 297
- Carmichael, Stokely, 371
- Carter, Jimmy, 396
- Carter, Rosalynn, 395
- Casartelli-Cabrini, Laura, 57, 65, 69–70, 85–86, 93, 99–100, 129
- Casselman, Cora, 249, 253
- Castillo Ledón, Amalia González Caballero de, 258
- Catt, Carrie Chapman, 108–9, 119, 143–44, 149
- Center for Women's Global Leadership, 404
- Charte Internationale du Travail* (International Charter of Work). See Berne Conference (1919)
- Chavez-Thompson, Linda, 407
- Chevenard, Jeanne, 90, 95, 101, 129, 197
- Cheyney, Alice Squires, 199, 212
- Chiang Kai-shek, 133
- Chicago Federation of Labor, 20–21
- Chicago Stockyards Labor Council, 112
- Childs, Marquis W., 193
- child labor, 17, 38, 48, 69, 109–10, 121, 132, 171, 173, 204, 272, 477n26
- Chile, 92, 234, 382
- China, 53, 65, 84, 86–7, 92, 108, 125, 128–35, 223, 370, 458n8, 477n26
- Chinery-Hesse, Mary, 406
- Chinese Communist Party, 129
- Chisholm, Shirley, 385–86
- Choice Not An Echo, A* (Schlafly), 395
- Christian socialism, 37, 88, 106
- Christman, Elisabeth: and Bondfield, 98; on ERT, 206–8; German speaking, 34; and IFWW, 88; and ILC (1931), 196; and ILO, 198; International Glove Workers' Union and, 21; on National War Labor Board, 37; at Pan-Pacific Women's Conference (1928), 134–35; at Pan-Pacific Women's Conference (1930), 136; rate for the job, 273; on second ICWW, 84; on Women's Charter, 209–10; and WTUL, 82, 129, 141, 292
- Civilian Conservation Corps, Camp Tera, 185
- civil rights: March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, 351; national women's committee, 349–50. See also anti-discrimination; antiracism; legislation, US; racism and discrimination
- Clarenbach, Kay, 374
- Class: consciousness of, 96–98, 116; inequalities 7–8, 398; tensions among women, 16, 71–74, 83, 119, 219–30. See also feminism,

- full rights; feminism, social democratic;
strikes; Working Women's Charters
Clinton, Hillary, 403, 411
Coalition of Labor Union Women, 394
Coit, Eleanor, 277
Colden, Charles, 200
Cold War, 267–70, 293–97, 320–333, 340,
370, 526n115, 527n120
Comisión Interamericana de Mujeres (CIM),
148–50, 201–3, 215, 217, 231, 233–35,
237–39.
Commission on International Labour
Legislation (1919), 39, 42–43
Communism (Soviet-led), 66–67, 79–80, 299,
407; disaffection with, 88, 243, 299, 321,
407. See also Cold War; Third International;
USSR
Communist Party USA (CPUSA), 106, 156,
186–88, 299, 382–83, 510n48, 525n98
Communist Women's International
Secretariat, 101
Conference for Progressive Political Action,
107
Conference of American States, Lima (1938),
215, 217
Congress of American Women, 265, 313,
526n116
Congress of Industrial Organization (CIO),
172, 176, 186, 291, 293, 297. See also American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organization (AFL-CIO)
Congress of Racial Equality, 229
conservatism, 5, 27, 76, 102, 110, 121–23, 170,
172–73; 284–86, 290–92, 372, 378, 395–403
Consumer Affairs Council, 396
Cook, Blanche Wiesen, 315
Cotton, Eugénie, 265
Crisis (NAACP magazine), 252
Cuba, 53, 84, 86, 124, 138, 148–49, 201–2,
231–32
Czechoslovakia, 52, 57–58, 84, 106, 265,
327, 511n53; Syndicate of Working
Women, 58
Davis, Angela, 382–83
Davis, Caroline, 286–87, 343, 376, 524n78
Davis, John W., 107
Dearborn Independent, 123
Debs, Eugene V., 103
Democratic Party, 3–4, 10, 108, 121, 123,
156–57, 162, 164, 175, 187, 194, 292, 371, 396,
399; Southern Democrats, 174, 290–91, 371
Department Store Employees Union of
New York, 211
Derry, Kathleen, 58, 78, 129, 137–38
Desai, Manisha, 417
Deux Époques, Deux Hommes (Bouvier), 99
Development and modernization debates,
340–41, 354–58, 387–8
Dewey, John, 116, 155, 481n2
Dewey, Thomas E., 240
Dewson, Mary (Molly), 162, 164, 216
Die Gleichheit (Equality), 276
Dies, Martin, 170, 261
Dingman, Mary, 86, 128, 131–32, 477n26
Dissmann, Robert, 277
Doak, William, 197
Dobrzanska, Sophie, 58
domestic work, 180–81, 309–312, 345, 352–53,
420, 487n72, 487n74, 503n81, 522n57, 548n16
Domestic Workers Bill of Rights, 420
Domestic Workers United (DWU), 415, 420
Dominican Republic, 202, 237–38, 368
Douglas, Helen Gahagan, 246, 289
Douglas, Paul H., 137
Draper, Anne, 376
Dreier, Mary, 19–20, 22–24, 34, 44, 55, 160,
449n21
Drury, Victor S., 20, 24
Dubček, Alexander, 371
Dubinsky, David, 201, 225, 245, 275, 277–78
Du Bois, W.E.B., 24, 56, 59, 114, 145, 245, 262
Duchêne, Gabrielle, 37, 43, 82, 90
Dudziak, Mary, 293
Dulles, John Foster, 315
Dumbarton Oaks Conference (1944), 256–57
Duncan, Ruby, 392

- Ebeling, Lena E., 303
Ebony, 315
Ecuador, 149, 201, 203
Edström, Sigfrid, 70 education, 9, 116–17. See also Bryn Mawr Summer School for Women Workers
Edwards, India, 270, 511n58
Edwards, Thyra J., 210, 252
Egypt, 65, 108
Eisenstein, Hester, 416
Ekendahl, Sigrid, 297–98, 303, 307–9, 312, 319–20, 326, 347, 355, 360, 362–65, 406, 519n17, 524n85, 525n95
Ellickson, Katherine Pollak, 287, 289, 342
Elliott, Dorothy, 309, 311 employment agency abuses, 449n21
Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), 373, 375, 397
Equal Nationality Treaty, 145, 201, 239, 480n72, 493n49 equal pay, 17, 111, 172, 248, 273–73, 287, 300–309, 348–49, 512n76, 516n130, 521nn42–43, 521n46
Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), 118, 288; battle over, 5, 102, 118–122, 145; Beard’s view, 214–15; Congressional hearings, 289; at Houston Women’s Conference, 381; F. Miller’s view, 266–67; and NOW, 374–75, 386–87; PCSW statement on, 344; ratification failure, 397; support for, 238, 377. See also Equal Rights Treaty (ERT); National Woman’s Party
Equal Rights Treaty (ERT), 145–46, 149–51, 190, 201, 203, 205–8, 213–16, 218–19, 237, 239, 480n72
Erlander, Tage, 347
Factory, Family, and Women in Soviet Russia (Fairchild, Kingsbury), 301
Fairbanks, Douglas, Jr., 236
Fairchild, Mildred, 294, 300–302, 306, 312–14, 316, 335, 347–48 fair labor standards, 18, 40, 103, 117, 119, 171, 289, 350, 474n45 family responsibilities, 309, 325, 344, 346, 359–64, 366, 386; “double day,” 242, 290; recognition of, 309; Social Security Act, 169–174; WTUL and, 63. See also domestic work; International Labor Organization (ILO); maternity rights and benefits; President’s Commission on the Status of Women, 1961 (PCSW)
Farmer-Labor Party, 106
Fascism, 8, 100, 224–26, 233
Fazal, Anwar, 402
Federal Council of Churches, 28
Felice, William, 223
Feminine Mystique, The (Friedan), 343
feminism, full rights: definition of, 3; “double day,” 242, 290, 362, 365; and economic inequality, 7–8; and education, 9; future of, 422–25; hidden feminism of, 397; and human rights, 8–9; individual to social, 416; men and, 4; and social feminism, 4, 108–10, 150. See also, among others, International Federation of Working Women (IFWW); International Labor Organization (ILO); New Deal; President’s Commission on the Status of Women, 1961 (PCSW); Women’s Labor Congress, 1919 (WLC); Women’s Trade Union League (WTUL); Women’s Charter (WC) feminism, imperial, 9–10, 144
feminism, labor. See ICFTU Women’s Committee; International Federation of Working Women (IFWW); Self-Employed Women’s Association (SEWA); Women’s Bureau (US); Women’s Labor Congress, 1919 (WLC); Women’s Trade Union League (WTUL); Working Women’s Charters feminism, neoliberal, 416–17
feminism, Pan-Hispanic, 149
feminism, social democratic: American women and, 2–3, 446n7; definition of, 445n4; education and, 9; fair labor standards, 171; history of, 6; new generation of, 370, 373, 424; night-work debate, 198;

- and Perkins, 483n19; transnational connections, 10, 14–15, 52, 98, 216, 219, 447n9
- feminists, Cold War, 295, 300
- feminists, legal equality, 76, 117, 146–47, 474n44
- Ferebee, Dorothy, 263
- Fierro de Bright, Josefina, 229
- Figueroa, Ana, 316, 325–26, 356–57, 359
- Fimmen, Edo, 83
- First African Regional Trade Union Conference, 329
- First World Conference of Women Workers, WFTU (1956), 320, 325–26
- Fitzpatrick, John, 20, 84
- Fledderus, Mary, 190, 490n2
- Flynn, Elizabeth Gurley, 265
- forced labor, 241, 296, 331–33, 529n144
- Ford, Betty, 395
- Ford, Henry, 123
- Fox, Evelyn, 128–29, 207, 212, 476n13
- France, 35, 37, 43, 57, 82, 84, 92, 99, 106, 223; Comité Féminin Français du Travail (French Women's Labor Committee), 43–44; Confédération générale du travail (CGT), 43, 82, 85, 91
- Franklin, Miles (Stella Maria Sarah), 31–32, 35, 44, 194, 451n43, 452n45
- Fraser, Doug, 396
- Fraser, Nancy, 416
- Free Federation of Puerto Rican Workers, 140
- Freeman, Jo, 425
- Frey, John, 170
- Friedan, Betty, 343, 374, 376, 385–86
- Friedman, Milton, 372
- Friedmann, Ernestine, 28, 48, 113
- Games, Julia García, 140–41
- Gandhi, Indira, 384
- Gandhi, Mahatma, 59–60, 228, 263, 354, 382, 384
- Garvey, Marcus, 125, 179, 330
- Geijer, Arne, 298, 346, 365
- General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), 399, 505n123
- General Federation of Women's Clubs, 30
- George, Henry, 159
- German Trade Union Federation (DGB), 34
- Germany, 19, 21, 34–38, 46, 78–81, 83–85, 90, 96, 100, 106, 198, 220, 257, 319; Independent Social Democratic Party, 276; KPD, 276; SPD, 34, 276
- Ghana, 328–9, 350, 370
- Gildersleeve, Virginia, 257, 259
- Ginsburg, Ruth Bader, 267
- Glendon, Mary Ann, 282
- Global South, 381, 400–402, 405, 537n2
- Goins, Irene, 111–12
- Goldberg, Arthur, 342, 346, 358
- Goldberg, Dorothy, 346
- Goldwater, Barry, 395
- Gompers, Samuel, 41, 45–46, 80, 95, 138–39, 250
- Good Housekeeping*, 110, 121
- Goodrich, Carter, 249
- Gottfurcht, Hans, 318, 326
- Green, William, 132–33, 166, 225, 275, 519n10
- Griffiths, Martha, 377
- Guatemala, 139, 324
- Guevara, Ernesto “Che,” 382
- Guyana, 244
- Haener, Dorothy, 374, 376
- Hague, Frank, 172
- Hague Women's Peace Conference (1915), 35–36
- Haiti, 126–27, 138, 202, 263, 359
- Hamer, Fannie Lou, 386, 392
- Hancock, Florence, 249, 279, 298, 303–4, 312, 517n141, 521n35
- Hanna, Gertrud, 34–35, 79, 83–84, 90, 95, 100–101, 197–98, 465n20, 467n44
- Hansson, Per Albin, 193
- Hardman, J.B.S., 227
- Harris, Patricia Roberts, 349
- Hartman, Mary S., 404
- Hatcher, Lillian, 287
- Haynes, Elizabeth Ross, 56, 111
- Heagney, Muriel, 134–35, 247

- Height, Dorothy, 341, 343, 349–52, 390–92, 531n12
- Henry, Alice, 31–32, 35, 52, 62, 94, 97, 136–37, 196
- Hernandez v. Texas*, 344
- Hesselgren, Kerstin: and Anderson, 99; domestic workers, 310; on ERT, 206; her view of Americans in 1919, 66; and Hilda “Jane” Smith, 117; and ICFTU, 320; and ILO, 273; and League of Nations, 213, 494n68; on night-work convention, 197, 492n38; and UN CSW, 270; at WLC, 57
- Hillman, Bessie Abramowitz, 21, 178, 226, 343
- Hillman, Sidney, 178, 225, 489n92
- Hitler, Adolph, 192, 198
- Ho Chi Minh, 382, 384
- Holland, James, 47
- Honduras, 138
- Hoover, Herbert, 107, 143
- Hoover, J. Edgar, 103, 294
- household labor. See domestic work
- House Special Committee on Un-American Activities (HUAC), 170, 313
- Houston Women’s Conference (1977), 338, 381, 395–96
- Hoxie, Robert, 240
- Hudson Shore Labor School, 183
- Huerta, Dolores, 384
- Hull, Cordell, 169, 216
- Hull House, 9, 21, 32, 48, 159, 178
- human rights, 8–9, 46, 223, 252, 259–61, 278–84, 422–25.
- Human Rights, USA, 1948 to 1966* (Murray), 374
- Humphrey, John, 281
- Hunt, Ida Gibbs, 56
- Huntington, James, 159
- Hunton, Addie, 56–57, 118, 126–27
- Hutar, Patricia, 388–89
- Ibárruri, Dolores, 265
- Ichikawa Fusae, 285
- Iglesias, Santiago, 138
- Immigrant and the Community, The* (Abbott), 104
- immigrant rights, 18, 24, 64, 104, 170, 226, 272, 352, 359, 383–84, 394, 461n41, 471n7, 499n15
- India, 31, 53, 58–61, 65, 108, 127, 131, 228, 241, 273, 311, 383–84, 503n77; Indian Women’s Charter of Rights and Duties, 282. See also All India Trade Union Congress; All Indian Women’s Conference; Self-Employed Women’s Association (SEWA); Textile Labour Association
- Indonesia, 328–29, 393
- Industrial Workers of the World (IWW), 103
- Inter-Allied Women’s Conference, 39, 42
- Inter-American Chapultepec Conference, 507n10
- Inter-American Conference for the Maintenance of Peace (1936), 205
- International Alliance of Women (IAW): and Ashby, 269; and Catt, 109; on ERT, 207, 494n67, 497n104; on Maternity Convention, 146; and Miller, 378; name change, 471n17; on Nightwork Convention, 480n75; and NWP, 147; and UN, 258, 260, 264, 274; and UN role, 509n36
- International Association for Labour Legislation (IALL), 40, 454n71
- International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU): and AFL, 519n10; and Africa, 368–69; “Bread, Peace, and Freedom,” 300; “A Charter of Freedom for Women Workers,” 326; Charter of Rights of Working Women, 365; and communism, 321; diversity of, 327; Equality Department, 409; equal remuneration support, 305; family policy, 364–65; gender dynamics of, 408–9; global focus, 338–39, 530n2; and Peterson, 298, 317; secular organization, 519n9; and Third World, 296; and WFTU, 418; Woman’s Department, 326; “Women! It’s Your Fight Too,” 322; Women’s Committee, 295, 320, 322, 324, 326–27, 359, 362, 364–65, 408–9, 468n66, 518n4; “Women Speak to Women” pamphlet, 326

- International Confederation of Free Trade Unions (ICFTU), meetings: Dusseldorf conference (1968), 366, 369; founding congress, 297, 299, 519n13; International Seminar for African affiliates, 328; residential summer school for women, 317–20, 525n95; and Third World, 319; Tunis Conference (1957), 324; Vienna meeting (1963), 364; World Congress (1955), 320, 324; World Congress (1965), 365, 368
- International Congress of Working Women (ICWW), First (1919), 13, 52–67. See also Women's Labor Congress, 1919 (WLC)
- International Congress of Working Women (Interim Organization): Asian participation, 78; leadership of, 79–83.
- International Congress of Working Women, Second (1921), 81; on agricultural workers, 85–86; attendees at, 84–85; on Chinese women workers, 86–87; IFTU role, 83; resolutions on disarmament and unemployment, 85–86
- International Cooperative Women's Guild, 146
- International Council of Social Democratic Women, 324
- International Council of Women, 30, 126
- International Council of Women of the Darker Races (ICWDR), 126, 261
- International Day against Violence against Women, 404
- International Domestic Workers Network, 420–21
- International Federation of Trade Unions (IFTU): and AFL, 41, 97; Eurocentric bias, 80–81; German influence, 81, 90; and ICWW, 85, 87; and IFWW, 89–91; leadership of, 78–79; and League of Nations, 45; name change, 455n76; report on women, 467n44; and Soviet Union, 80; Women's Committee, 95, 98, 100–101, 317, 468n66; women's role, 83, 93; and WTUL, 94
- International Federation of Working Women (IFWW): constitution of, 87, 89; dissolution of, 95, 297; as forerunner of ICFTU Women's Committee, 317; and IFTU, 89–90, 95; and ILO, 89; membership question, 87–88; officers of (1921), 89; third congress Vienna (1923), 92–93; underlying principle, 88
- International Homework Office, French Division, 43
- International Industrial Relations Institute, 190, 490n2
- International Labor Conferences (ILC): 1919, 42, 67–74, 89, 109, 387, 465n25, 479n56; 1921, attendees, 89; 1931 and 1934, night work amendments, 195, 197–98; 1934, German delegates, 198; 1937, Women's Rights Declaration, 212–13, 218–19, 497n113; 1938, Committee on Women and Juveniles, 231–32; 1940, New York, 247–48; 1944, Philadelphia, 249–53, 273; 1945, Paris, 271–72; 1946, Montreal, 273–74; 1947, freedom of association, 278–79; 1948, San Francisco, 279, 514n98; 1950, 1951 equal pay, 300–306; 1957 antidiscrimination standards, 333; 1961 Technical Cooperation Committee, 356–58; 1964 Women Workers Committee, 361, 524n78; 1964 Workers' Group proposal, 358, 360; 1965 Employment Recommendation, 362–63; 1965 Workers' Group proposal, 358
- International Labor Organization (ILO): African Regional Conference (1960), 357; antidiscrimination standards, 333–34, 365; Committee on Children, 272; Committee on Women Workers, 360–64, 534n82; Constitution, 42; Correspondence Committee on Women's Work, 198; delegate rules, 492n41; and developing countries, 358; domestic worker committee, 309–11, 522n59; efficacy of, 405; equal pay debate, 300–305, 326, 348, 520n24; family policies, 347, 364, 366; forced labor, 331–32; freedom of association, 278–80, 514n101; gender influence, 406; globalization of, 327, 338–39, 528n129, 530n2; and Global

- International Labor Organization (ILO)
(continued)
South, 381; and Gompers, 46; and IFWW, 89, 93; Japan's "special exemptions," 463n66; labor division over, 45; living wage, 42, 505n117; maternity policies, 69–71, 312–13, 359–64; and Miller, 203, 316, 353; and Morse, 279–80; and New Dealers, 154, 195, 314, 316; and NWP, 492n36; and Perkins, 201; sex-specific standards, 147–48, 200; and social justice, 189, 248–50; Social Protection Floor Recommendation, 422; Third World delegations, 296; tripartite international governance, 45, 189, 275; and UN, 199–200, 257, 271–73; and US, 50, 66, 98, 406; US women's push for US membership in, 195–96, 199–201; Women's Charter, 212–13; women's role in, 42–43, 134, 141, 146, 273–74, 357, 359, 408; women voting delegates, 99–100, 204; and WTUL, 76; and WWII, 247. See also Equal Rights Treaty (ERT)
- International Labor Organization (ILO), conventions: Abolition of Forced Labor Convention (C105), 296, 333, 529n144; Anti-Discrimination Convention (C111) (1958), 334; Convention on Social Policy in Non-Metropolitan Territories (Co82), 274; Decent Work for Domestic Workers Convention (C189), 420–21, 548n16; Equal Remuneration Convention (C100), 42, 46, 213, 294, 301–6, 308, 325–26, 335, 348–49, 521n46, 522n52; Maternity Convention, (C003) 1919, 69–71, 74, 76, 109, 146, 196, 204–5, 313; Maternity Convention (C103) (1952), 295, 312–313, 347; Night Work (Women) Convention (C004) (1919), 69, 71, 76, 146, 480n75; Night Work (Women) Convention (C041) 197–98; Women with Family Responsibilities Convention (R123) (1965), 362–64; Workers with Family Responsibilities Convention (C156) (1981), 364, 406
- international labor standards, 49, 51–52, 62, 87, 89, 132, 143, 280, 314, 356, 387, 421–22
- International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union (ILGWU), 26, 47, 112, 175, 179–82, 186, 225, 227
- International Organization of Consumers Unions (IOCU), 402–3
- International Trade Union Confederation (ITUC), 418–19
- International Trade Union Resolution on Immigration, 461n40
- Ireland, independence movement, 36, 60
- Italy, 57, 84, 92, 96, 99–100, 285; Cassa Nazionale di Maternita, 57; Federation of Textile Workers, 57
- Jackson, George, 383
- Jain, Devaki, 384, 410–11
- Jamaica, 125, 243–44
- Japan, 31, 61, 65, 71–74, 92, 108, 130, 220, 285, 463n66, 518n7
- Jaurés, Jean, 58, 276
- Jeffrey, Millie, 386
- Jewish Labor Committee (JLC), 225, 227
- Johnson, Lady Bird, 395
- Johnson, Lyndon B., 351, 372–73, 377
- Johnstone, Elizabeth, 357, 359, 364, 524n78
- Joint Standing Committee of Women's International Organizations, 146
- Jorge de Tella, Pilar, 232
- Joshi, Narayan Malhar, 60
- Jouhaux, Léon, 42, 82, 85, 99, 279
- Justo, Juan B., 141
- Kabeer, Naila, 422
- Kamada Eikichi, 72
- Kaplansky, Kalmen, 333
- Kara, Maniben, 327
- Kato Taka, 130
- Kawawa, Tashidi, 330
- Kelley, Florence, 24, 26–27, 102, 110, 118, 120, 123, 159, 474n44, 475n6
- Kellogg-Briand Pact (1928), 150, 472n18

- Kellor, Frances, 23–24, 160, 449n21
Kemp, James, 378
Kennedy, Florynce, 386
Kennedy, John F., 341–43, 351, 372
Kenya, 329, 367, 369, 379, 400–1
Kenyatta, Jomo, 244, 379
Kenyon, Dorothy, 209, 214, 218, 256, 259–60, 266–71, 292, 294
Keyes, Alan, 402
Keynes, John Maynard, 194, 372
Keyserling, Leon, 371–72
Keyserling, Mary Dublin, 362, 371–73
Khrushchev, Nikita, 321, 324, 527n120
Kingsbury, Susan, 116, 301
Kissinger, Henry, 388, 390
Kitchelt, Florence, 288
Kjelsberg, Betzy, 58, 89, 99, 197
Klein, Naomi, 418
Knights of Labor, 15, 19
Kropotkin, Peter, 88
Ku Klux Klan, 9, 103, 108, 114, 156, 158
Labour and Socialist International (LSI), 101, 141, 276, 470n84
Labour Woman, The, 147
LaDame, Mary, 164
LaFollette, Robert M. Jr., 290, 484n37
LaFollette, Robert M. Sr., 107
Landová-Štychová, Luisa, 57
Latin America, 127, 134, 138–39, 148–49, 202–5, 231–32, 236, 258, 284, 494n57, 516n130. See also Comisión Interamericana de Mujeres (CIM); Lima Declaration of Women's Rights
Law and Women's Work, The (ILO), 218
League of Mexican-American Women, 375
League of Nations, 39, 45–46, 146, 206–208, 213–14, 218, 260, 458n5, 458n7, 469n73. See also Equal Rights Treaty (ERT)
League of United Latin American Citizens, 229
League of Women Voters (LWV), 108, 143–44, 150, 471n16
Ledón, Amalia González Caballero de Castillo, 258, 282, 507n10
Legien, Carl, 81
legislation, US: Agricultural Adjustment Act, 165; Aid to Dependent Children, 169; Cable Act (1922), 480n72; Civil Rights Act (1964), 351–52; Civil Rights Act (1964), Title VII, 373–75, 377, 386, 397; Equal Pay Act (1963), 338, 348–49, 532n29; Espionage and Sedition Acts, 103; Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA), 172–73, 195, 288, 346, 351–52, 372, 386, 485nn53–54, 494n57; Fair Labor Standards amendments, 174–75; Fair Labor Standards Amendments (1966), 352; Full Employment Act (1946), 371; Glass-Steagall Act, 165; Hart-Celler Act (1965), 352; Immigration Act of 1924, 104, 135, 499n13; Jones-Shaforth Act (1917), 488n76; Keating-Owen Act (1916), 110; Medicare, Medicaid (1965), 352; National Industrial Recovery Act (NIRA), 166–67, 485n53; nationwide childcare centers, 386; Naturalization Act (1790), 471n7; Percy Amendment, 387; Servicemen's Readjustment Act (the G.I. Bill), 290; Sheppard-Towner Maternity and Infancy Protection Act, 109, 118–19, 123; Smith Act (1949), 270; Smoot-Hawley Act, 190–91; Social Security Act (1935), 168, 174, 485n54, 486n56; Taft-Hartley amendments (1947), 291, 293, 298; US Foreign Assistance Act, 387; Voting Rights Act (1965), 352, 532n40; Wagner Act (1935), 167–68, 173, 291, 371, 485n54
Lehman, Herbert, 180
Lenin, Vladimir, 88
Lenroot, Katharine, 162, 168–69, 271–72
Leopold, Alice Koller, 314, 334
Leslie, Mabel, 147
Lewis, John L., 176
Liaison Committee of Women's International Organizations, 206
Liberia, 126, 263, 315

- Life and Labor* (journal), 31–32, 34, 36
Life and Labor Bulletin, 96, 131
Lima Declaration of Women's Rights, 190,
215–18, 497n113
Lippmann, Walter, 16, 268
Living Wage, A (Ryan), 159
living wages, 17, 27, 273, 302, 323
Lombardo Toledano, Vicente, 232, 251, 500n35
Loughlin, Anne, 243, 249, 251, 253, 298, 319,
503n85
Lovestone, Jay, 367–68
Luisi, Paulina, 143–45, 479n66
Lutz, Bertha, 143–44, 149, 202, 249, 251–52,
257–58, 260, 505n113
- Macarthur, Mary, 33–34, 40–41, 44–45, 57,
63, 70, 109, 452n48, 512n76
MacDonald, Ramsay, 94, 98
Magnusson, Leifur, 492n36
Majerová, Marie Stivínová, 58, 70
Makonnen, T. Ras, 244
Malcolm X, 371
male chauvinism, 4, 67–69, 74, 82–84, 303–4,
365–66, 369, 376, 409
Malone, Annie M. Turnbo, 179
March on Washington for Jobs and Freedom, 351
March on Washington Movement, 228
Marcuse, Herbert, 382
Marino, Katherine, 144
Marson, Una, 243
Martinez, Aida González, 405
Marx, Karl, 88, 476n13
Mason, Vivian Carter, 265, 509n39
maternity rights and benefits, 28, 63, 69–71, 92,
109, 118, 146–47, 174, 204–5, 211, 269, 312
Maul, Daniel, 335
Mboya, Tom, 329, 367, 369, 379
McCarthy, Joseph, 270, 290, 294, 313
McDonald, Edith, 93, 101, 148
McGeachy, Mary Craig, 207, 495n74
McKenzie, Jean, 264
Means, Gardiner, 183–84, 488n87
Meany, George, 365–68, 371
Mehta, Hansa Jivraj, 282
Messenger, The, 113
Metzgar, Jack, 188
Mexican-American Political Association, 375
Mexico, 104, 129, 139–40, 142–44, 232, 317,
370, 390, 412; *Confederación Regional
Obrera Mexicana*, 139
Meyer, Agnes, 365
Meyer, Eugene, 365
Milkman, Ruth, 423
Miller, Francesca, 239
Miller, Frieda: background of, 54, 180; and Bondfield, 98, 502n71; concurrent presentation of UN covenants, 315; Congressional testimony, 292; “double day,” 290;
equal pay debate, 288, 300–305, 521n41;
and ERA, 378; FBI harassment, 314; household labor, 253, 309–11, 352; and
ICFTU, 326; and ILO, 201, 203–5, 231, 247,
249, 252, 256, 272, 294, 316, 335, 340, 353–54,
387, 524n78; in India, 394; and Kenyon,
266–67; Maternity Convention amendment, 312, 347–48; rate for the job, 273, 301–2; and US maternity policies, 313; in wartime London, 240–42; and WLC, 54;
at Women's Bureau, 221, 242, 286–87; and
Women's Charter, 209; and WTUL, 180
Miller, Joyce, 407–8
Mink, Patsy Takemoto, 386
Mitchell, James P., 334
Moberg, Eva, 347
*Modern Corporation and Private Property,
The* (Means), 183
Mohamed, Bibi Titi, 329
Moik, Wilhelmine, 319
Montgomery, David, 138
Moon, Henry Lee, 245
Moreau de Justo, Alicia, 58, 78, 140–41, 212,
235, 460n23
Moreno, Luisa, 187, 229
Morgan, Anne, 23
Morgan, Robin, 411

- Morones, Luis N., 139–40
Morse, David A., 251, 279–80, 334, 356, 358–59
Moskowitz, Belle, 156, 158, 482n7
Moyn, Samuel, 283
Ms. magazine, 383
Mukherjee, Sharita, 274
Muller v. Oregon, 27
Mundt, Martha, 92, 148, 196
Murray, Pauli, 183–85, 228, 246, 267, 293, 337, 343–45, 370, 373–77, 386
Musser, Elise F., 205, 216–17
Mutō Sanji, 72–73
My Brilliant Career (Franklin), 32
Myrdal, Alva, 194, 272, 302, 530n5
Myrdal, Gunnar, 194, 334
- Nader, Ralph, 396
Nagler, Isidore, 334
Nasser, Gamal, 328
National American Women's Suffrage Association, 119
National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), 16, 24, 59, 125, 164, 262
National Association of Colored Women (NACW), 29–30, 56, 110, 112–13, 125–26, 451n36
National Association of Manufacturers, 121, 173
National Association of Wage Earners, 112–13
National Child Labor Committee, 313
National Committee on Household Employment, 352
National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War, 108–9
National Consumers' League (NCL), 26–27, 108, 110, 157, 159, 173, 219, 266, 372
National Council for Prevention of War, 224
National Council of Negro Women (NCNW), 163–64, 175, 229, 246, 261–65, 314, 349–50, 390–93; International Advisory Board, 540n38; International Relations Committee, 261, 263
National Domestic Workers Alliance, 420–21
National Federation of Republican Women, 395
National Federation of Women Workers, 32–33, 91
National Institute for Houseworkers, 309
National League for the Protection of Colored Women, 24
National Organization for Women (NOW), 374–76, 385–86, 397, 539n18
National Recovery Administration (NRA), 166–67, 181–82, 191
National Recovery Administration, Labor Advisory Board, 162
National Union of General Workers, 91
National Union of Shop Assistants, 33
National War Labor Board, 37, 105
National Welfare Rights Organization, 376
National Woman's Party (NWP): on equal pay, 288; on Equal Pay Act (1963), 532n29; and full rights feminism, 4, 120, 190; and ILO, 195, 204; and Latin America, 145, 149–50; on minimum wage, 203; and NOW, 374; origins of, 119; pro-business, 121–22, 154; racism of, 118, 351; sex amendment to Civil Rights Act, 351; Supreme Court minimum wage ruling, 120; and voting rights, 118; Women's Charter, 210; Women's Status bill, 289. See also Equal Rights Amendment (ERA); Equal Rights Treaty (ERT)
Negro Worker, 243
Nehru, Jawaharlal, 263, 315, 328
Nestor, Agnes, 19, 21, 37, 54, 106, 112, 120, 129
Neuberger, Maurine, 346
New Deal, during FDR's presidency (see chapters 6–8); post-World War II New Deal order (see chapters 9–11); women's role in 1930s New Deal, 162, 164–65. See also Democratic Party; legislation, US
New Deal feminists, 154, 255–56, 259–60, 286, 512n76
New Left, 371

- Newman, Pauline, 13, 54, 98, 180, 200, 221, 240, 287, 289, 291, 302, 321, 378, 470n82, 487n70
- New Republic, The*, 290
- New York Amsterdam News*, 185
- New York Consumers' League, 23, 162
- New Yorker*, 162
- New York Magazine*, 383–84
- New York State Factory Investigating Commission, 24, 153, 161
- New York Times*, 120, 204, 237, 269, 375
- New York Wage Earners' Suffrage League, 24
- New York Working Women's Society, 19–20
- Nicaragua, 138
- Niebuhr, Reinhold, 178
- Nigeria, 317, 350, 359
- night-work debate, 62–64, 69, 71–73, 76, 121, 130, 147, 197–98, 492n38
- Nilsson, Karin, 197
- Nixon, Richard, 386
- Nkrumah, Kwame, 244, 328, 330–31, 370
- North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), 399
- North American Treaty Organization (NATO), 294, 518n2
- Norton, Mary Theresa, 164, 172–73, 271–72, 289–90
- Norway, 58, 84, 99
- Nussbaum, Karen, 407
- Nyerere, Julius, 329–30, 367
- NY full voting rights, legislation, US, 450n26
- O'Connor, Julia, 54
- Ogata Setsu, 72
- Olsen, Tillie, 187
- O'Neill, William, 445n4, 452n47
- Open Door International (ODI), 147, 196–97, 207, 360
- O'Reilly, Leonora, 1, 15, 19–20, 23–24, 35–37, 54, 59–60, 130–31, 449n24, 461n27, 476n20
- Organization of American States (OAS), 518n7
- O'Sullivan, Mary Kenney, 15
- Oudegeest, Jan, 85
- Out of Work* (Kellor), 23
- Owen, Robert, 88
- Padmore, Dorothy, 328, 367
- Padmore, George, 243–45, 328
- Palmer, A. Mitchell, 103, 107
- Palmer raids, 102
- Pan-African Congresses, 56–57, 125–27, 244–45, 475n6
- Pan-Africanism, 125–27, 197, 239, 243–45, 331, 475n6
- Panama, 138, 149, 179
- Pan-American Association for the Advancement of Women (PAAW), 143–44
- Pan American Federation of Labor (PAFL), 138–40, 461n41, 478n53, 478n57
- Pan-American Union, 140, 145, 148–50, 190, 201–2, 215, 217, 219, 479n57, 497n113. See also Comisión Interamericana de Mujeres (CIM)
- Pandit, Vijaya Lakshmi, 260, 263–64, 315, 508n31
- Panhispanism, 139, 144
- Pankhurst, Christabel, 119
- Pan-Pacific Women's Association (PPWA), 134–36
- Paris Peace Conference (1919), 38–39, 41–42. See also Treaty of Versailles
- Park, Maud Wood, 108, 143
- Patten, Simon N., 160, 195
- Paul, Alice, 118–20, 146–48, 198, 219, 288, 493n49, 502n62
- Pearson, Drew, 164
- People's Peace Conference, Buenos Aires (1936), 205, 212
- Percy, Charles, 387
- Perkins, Frances: and AFL, 166, 195; and Anderson, 200; background of and social philosophy, 158–61; and Bethune, 163; Congressional investigations of, 169; conservatives and, 170; Democratic Party, 161; feminism of, 483n19; and ILC (1919), 312, 387; and ILO, 195, 199–201,

- 224, 247–53, 271–72, 316; impeachment battle, 170–71; Japanese American internments, 231; “Ladies Brain Trust,” 165; Lima Declaration, 216; to London, 192; marriage and children, 161; and Miller, 180; NIRA codes, 485n53; at NYC Consumers’ League, 23, 160; on NY State Industrial Commission, 55, 158, 161–62; progressive policies, 165–69, 171–75; rate for the job, 273; Secretary of Labor, 162; and Socialist Party, 160; social safety net, 193; Social Security Act, 168; and Springer, 246; US Civil Service Commission, 316; and van Kleeck, 191; visas for Nazi victims, 226; wage and hour law fight, 172; Wagner Act, 167; and WLC, 55
- Perón, Juan, 502n64
- Persinger, Mildred E., 391
- Persons, Edward, 311
- Pesotta, Rose, 182
- Peters, Charles, 399
- Peterson, Esther, 309–10, 337; and AFL-CIO, 340–41, 365; and Amalgamated, 247; American Labor Party, 489n92; Assistant Secretary for Labor Standards, 342; background of, 177–78; at Bryn Mawr Summer School, 182–83; civil rights, 349; Committee of Labor Women for Kennedy and Johnson, 342; and consumer rights, 396; critic of racial hatred, 226; and EEOC, 373; effect of 1930s labor movement, 176; equal pay debate, 308–9; on ERA and Title VII, 377; family responsibilities, 360, 362–64; and Frieda Miller, 180; and ICFTU, 295, 297–98, 319–24, 326, 364, 526n114; ICFTU summer school, 318; ILC (1961), 356–58; and ILC (1964), 359, 361; and ILO, 354, 358; international views, 355; IOCU representative at UN, 402–3; in Kennedy and Johnson administrations, 340; loyalty investigations of, 316–17; New Deal feminist, 299–300; and New York WTUL, 181; and NOW, 375; and PCSW, 342–43; race relations programs, 227; and Socialist Party, 186; on Soviet system, 324, 526n108; and Springer, 307; Sweden residence, 306, 345–47, 531n17; Title VII, 351–52; Women’s Bureau, 342, 348; at Women’s Bureau Labor Advisory Committee, 287; and Women’s Status bill, 289
- Peterson, Oliver, 177–78, 186, 297–98, 316–17, 321, 341, 396, 526n114, 533n52
- Pfeffer, Paula, 145
- Phelan, Edward, 199, 248–50, 253
- Philadelphia Declaration (1944), 222, 224, 250–51, 256, 259, 273, 279, 283, 331, 333–34
- Phillips, Marion, 89–91, 93–94, 101, 466n40
- Pinchot, Cornelia Bryce, 265
- Pinochet, Augusto, 382
- Pittsburgh Courier*, 228
- Poland, 84, 52, 58, 62, 64, 197–98, 324, 327
- Poo, Ai-Jen, 420–21
- Popova, Nina, 265
- Popp, Adelheid, 79, 101
- Post, Louis F., 103
- Potosky, Jacob, 297
- Prebisch, Raúl, 356
- pregnancy and maternity protections, 69–70, 109, 118–19, 130, 472n20. See also International Labor Organization (ILO), conventions
- President’s Commission on the Status of Women, 1961 (PCSW), 338, 342–48, 361, 374, 530n12
- Profintern, 80–81, 88, 243
- Progressive Party (1912 and 1924), 17, 106–7, 447n8
- Puerto Rico, 124, 138–40, 180–82, 488n76
- Raana Liaquat Ali Khan, 528n129
- racism and discrimination: and AFL, 104–5; black poverty, 531n12; civil rights gains, 292–93; court cases as model for women’s rights, 344; Japanese American internments, 230–31; and NY WTUL, 24; Paris

- racism and discrimination (continued)
Peace Conference, 55–56; Social Darwinism, 7, 116–17; Southern Democrats and, 175; and Springer, 179, 245–46, 378; UN resolution on Zionism, 402; voting rights, 118, 532n40; White Australia Policy, 135; and white women's organizations, 30, 55–56, 110–112, 163, 351; WWII and all-white unions, 227; WWII military, 261; and YWCA, 29. See also anti-discrimination; antiracism; civil rights; conservatism; Ku Klux Klan
- Rai, Lala Lajpat, 59
- Randolph, A. Philip, 113, 179, 227–28, 245, 350, 372, 499n21
- Rankin, Jeannette, 109, 164
- Rauchway, Eric, 6
- Read, Lucy Maxwell, 123
- Reagan, Maureen, 402
- Reagan, Ronald, 396
- Republican Party, 106–7, 164, 171, 290, 294, 314, 348, 386, 395–96, 399, 406
- Restless* (Peterson), 299
- Reuther, Victor, 299, 520n20
- Reuther, Walter, 291, 299–300, 368
- Richards, Yvette, 246
- Robins, Margaret Dreier: and AFL, 95, 105; and Alice Henry, 31; and Anderson, 50; background of, 20; branded a radical, 49; and Bryn Mawr Summer School, 115; and China, 131–32; critic of FDR, 155; critic of Wilson's policies, 464n8; disloyalty charge, 122; and Eleanor Roosevelt, 46, 55, 128, 456n94; and FDR, 452n45, 481n1; German speaking, 34; and Hanna, 465n20; Hull House, 21; and ICWW, 78, 81–83, 85, 88–90, 92; and IFTU, 83–84, 93–94, 467n56; and ILC, 68, 86; and ILO, 46; International Congress of Working Women, 13; labor's sectarian battles, 96–97; League of Nations and Versailles Treaty, 46; minimum wage ruling, 120; NY Women's Municipal League, 449n21; and PALF, 479n57; at Pan-American women's conference (1922), 143; Republican vote, 107–8; in retirement, 133; sympathy with striking workers, 176; and Tanaka Taka, 73, 130; and WLC, 52–53, 56, 63–65, 67, 74; and World War I, 39, 255; and WTUL, 17, 19, 26, 47, 141
- Robins, Raymond, 20, 133
- Robinson, Dollie Lowther, 181, 226, 228, 287, 342–43, 349, 374, 418
- Rodgers, Daniel T., 154
- Roe v. Wade*, 386
- Roosevelt, Eleanor: and AFL, 278; and Al Smith campaign, 158; and Bethune, 163, 184; Camp Tera tour, 185; European journey after WWI, 54; and Human Rights Commission, 256, 280–84, 315, 415n15; Japanese American internments, 231; and Murray, 184; and New Deal, 164; new feminism (1960's), 341; and New York governor's race (1930), 162; PCSW chair, 342–43; Puerto Rico garment workers' treatment, 182; against racism, 184–85; San Francisco UN Conference, 262; and UN Charter language, 507n11; UN voting rights, 264; and WLC, 54; and WTUL, 54–55, 157
- Roosevelt, Franklin Delano: and Anderson, 505n17; Argentina and, 236; and Bethune, 163; court packing, 172; “cradle to grave” social insurance, 168, 290; economic bill of rights (1944), 229–30; Equal Nationality Treaty, 493n49; “Forgotten Man” speech, 371; Four Freedoms, 229, 256, 259, 283, 287, 502n73; on full employment, 289; Good Neighbor policy, 202, 205, 234; and ILO, 100, 248, 250; Japanese American internments, 230–31, 500n33; and New York Democratic women, 158; New York governor, 161; and Perkins, 169, 171; understanding trade unions, 157–58; War Refugee Board, 499n15; WPA legislation, 166
- Roosevelt, Theodore, 17, 125

- Ross, Nellie Tayloe, 156
Rostow, Walt, 340, 530n4
Ruskin, John, 88
Russell Sage Foundation, 37, 52, 160
Russia, 46, 53, 80, 88, 107
Rustin, Bayard, 351, 372
Ryan, John, 159, 172
- Sacco, Nicola, 103
Sandberg, Sheryl, 416, 546n1
Sandoval, José Enrique, 204
Sanger, Sophy, 40, 70
Sarabhai, Anasuya, 354
Sassenbach, Johannes, 92, 468n66
Sauvy, Alfred, 295
Schlafly, Phyllis, 395–96
Schlieper de Martinez Guerrero, Ana Rosa, 217, 233, 235, 237–38
Schneiderman, Rose: and AFL, 181, 280; and Al Smith campaign, 158; and Anderson, 47, 456nn96–97; background of, 19, 24–25; and Bondfield, 98; branded a radical, 49, 102, 122; “bread and roses” concept, 117; and Bryn Mawr Summer School, 113; domestic worker charters, 503n81; on economic cause of war, 109; Farm-Labor Party, 106; French labor, 43–44; to Havana, 231; human rights views, 57, 46–47; and ILC, 13; and ILGWU, 47; and ILO, 249, 279, 360; and Kenyon, 510n41; labor organizer, 25–26, 41; and New Deal, 194; and NRA Labor Advisory Board, 162; and NWP, 197; and PPWA, 134; Puerto Rico garment workers’ treatment, 182; Robins view of, 133; and Roosevelts, 156–57; and socialism, 192, 490n12; Socialist Party and, 25, 107; and Springer, 180; and Versailles Treaty, 39–40, 42–43; visit with President Wilson, 42. See also International Federation of Working Women (IFWW); Women’s Charter (WC); Women’s Labor Congress, 1919 (WLC); Women’s Trade Union League (WTUL); Working Women’s Charter
- Schnitzler, William, 365
Schwellenbach, Lewis, 292
Seidman, Gay, 425
Self-Employed Women’s Association (SEWA), 394, 410–12, 419
Senate Committee on Civil Liberties, 484n37
Sender, Toni (Tony), 256, 275–80, 305, 319, 332, 521n41
Service Employees International Union (SEIU), 398
Seventh Pan-American Conference (Montevideo, 1933), 201–3
Sex worker organizing, 412–413
sexual violence, 403–5, 412–13
Shailor, Barbara, 407, 420–22
Shaw, George Bernard, 31
Shaw, Tom, 91, 94
Shepherd, Miriam, 78–79, 81
Shin Fujin Kyōkai (Association of New Women), 130
Shin Tak-Hing, 86, 130–31
Shotwell, James, 49
Sierra Leone, 126, 350
Simms, Florence, 28–29, 44, 55
Sipilä, Helvi, 388
Sisterhood is Global (Morgan), 411
Slave Labor in the Soviet World (AFL), 332
Sloan, Edith, 353
Smieton, Mary, 242
Smirnova, Riassa (Ray), 361
Smith, Al, 23, 55, 158, 161, 482n7
Smith, Constance, 70
Smith, Ethel, 96, 106, 118, 120–21, 150–51, 203
Smith, Hilda “Jane,” 114, 116–17, 182, 185, 277
Smith, Howard K., 351
Smith, Zadie, 2
Smuts, Jan, 258
Social Darwinism, 7, 15
Social Democratic Party of Germany (SPD), 34, 276
Social Democratic Women’s Association, 99 social floors, 422
Social Gospel Christianity, 20, 23, 28–30

- socialism, 3, 107, 122–23, 141, 186, 276, 315, 324, 371, 460n23
- Socialist Party (US), 3, 17, 24–25, 103, 106, 160–61, 186, 191
- Solis, Hilda, 420–21
- Somavía, Juan, 406
- Soule, Annah May, 159
- South Africa, 392–393, 402; Sikula Sonke (We Grow Together), 412–13
- Southern Negro Youth Congress, 382–83
- Spanish-Speaking People's Congress, 229
- Springer, Maida Stewart, 176, 224, 226–28, 239, 245–46, 327–331, 368–69, 393, 487n67; and AFL-CIO, 330, 340, 355, 366–67; and Africa, 306, 328–29, 367, 369, 379; anticolonial internationalism of, 327–28, 330–31, 339; anti-Communism of, 300; background of, 178–80; at the Farm, 183–84; and ICFTU, 296; and ILC, 360–61; and ILGWU, 378; and London's Black community, 243–45; at Nairobi World Conference on Women, 401; and NCNW, 540n38; and New York WTUL, 181; and NOW, 377; Pan-African Conference on the Role of Trade Union Women, 392; on Sharpeville massacre, 530n155; in Tanganyika, 330; and Third World countries, 328; travel to Sweden, 307–8; at UN First World Conference on Women, 391; at UN Third World Conference on Women, 400; Women's Bureau (US), 221, 292
- Springer, Owen, 179
- Sri Lanka, 263, 353
- Stalin, Joseph, 243, 257, 267, 321, 325
- Starr, Ellen Gates, 21
- Steinem, Gloria, 383–86, 394, 410
- Stettinius, Edward, 262
- Stevens, Doris, 148–50, 201–2, 205–6, 215–18, 237–39, 288, 493n55
- St. George, Katharine, 349
- Stimson, Henry, 261
- Strand, Axel, 298–99
- Straus, Dorothy, 266
- Street, Jessie, 258, 260, 268–69
- strikes and labor actions: Bombay textile workers, 131; care workers, 398; Chicago Harvester, 22; farmworkers, 352; garment workers, 19, 21–23, 25; general strikes (1930s), 175–78; heartbreakers' strike, 178; laundry workers, 181; longshoremen, 169–70; Minneapolis truckers, 186; post WWII strike wave, 291; public sector strikes, 398; Puerto Rico sugar workers, 140; service worker strikes, 398; Shanghai general strike, 131; Steel Strike, 105; telephone operators, 54
- Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), 339, 350, 371, 376, 382
- Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), 371
- Sukarno, Achmed, 328
- Sullivan, "Big Tim," 161
- Sundquist, Alma, 57
- Sun Yat-sen, 133
- Supiot, Alain, 250
- Sutter, Ann O'Leary, 366
- Swartz, Maud O'Farrell, 19, 24, 26, 34, 97, 133, 142, 145, 157–58, 470n82; and AFL, 95; at Conference on the Cause and Cure of War, 498n3; Farm-Labor Party, 106; and Hanna, 84; and ICWW, 83; and IFTU, 93–94; and IFWW, 89, 93; and PALF, 479n57; and WLC, 54; and WTUL, 26, 91
- Sweden, 57, 92, 99, 192–94, 197, 298, 306–10, 522n51, 531n20, 545n84; Landsorganisationen i Sverige (LO), 193, 298, 308–9, 522n51; Swedish Domestic Workers Act, 310, 345, 522n57, 531n17; Swedish Social Home Help Program, 310, 345
- Sweden: The Middle Way (Childs), 193
- Swedish Social Democratic Party (SAP), 99, 193, 298, 308
- Sweeney, John J., 407–8
- syndicalism, 35, 43, 101, 103, 176, 182
- Tallman, Eileen, 318
- Tambor, Molly, 285
- Tanaka Taka, 13, 61, 71–74, 78, 130, 285, 463n64

- Tanganyika, 329, 359, 367–68
- Tarre Murzi, Alfredo, 357
- Tenayuca, Emma, 187
- Terrell, Mary Church, 30, 56–57, 118, 126–27
- Textile Labour Association of India, 354, 394, 410
- Thibert, Marguerite, 206, 212, 252–53, 273, 495n69
- Third International, 79–80, 101, 143. See also Communism; Profintern; USSR
- Third World, 295–96, 316, 328, 331, 335, 359, 363–64, 366, 369–70, 381, 390–91, 518n7. See also Bandung Conference; Global South; International Labor Organization (ILO)
- Third World Women's Alliance, 376
- Thomas, Albert, 85, 89, 196, 199, 248
- Thomas, M. Carey, 113–15
- Thomas, Norman, 186
- Thorne, Florence, 279
- Thurman, Howard, 263
- Thurman, Sue Bailey, 263
- Ting Shu Ching, 128, 475n9
- Toledano, Rosa María Otero Gama de Lombardo, 232
- Toledano, Vicente Lombardo, 232
- Toni Sender* (Sender), 276
- Torres, Elena, 142–45
- To Secure These Rights* (US Committee on Civil Rights), 292
- Toward Equal Rights for Men and Women* (Smith), 150, 203
- Toward Standards for the Household Worker* (US Women's Bureau), 310, 345, 522n56, 522n57
- Towns, Ann E., 149
- Treaty of Versailles, 38–39, 41–42, 46, 128, 213, 255, 456n91, 458n8
- Triangle Shirtwaist Fire, 23, 25, 160
- Trinidad, 140, 243
- Troisbros, Simone, 363
- Trujillo, Rafael, 202, 237–38
- Truman, Harry S., 266–68, 270–71, 280–81, 291–92, 340
- Truman's Committee on Civil Rights (1947), 292–93, 342
- Tucker, Rosina, 499n20
- Turkey, 317, 353, 393
- Tuuri, Rebecca, 392
- Twining, Edward Francis, 330
- Uganda, 143–44, 201, 203, 234
- Unione Agricola Femminile*, 86
- Union Labor Advocate*, 31
- Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR), 191, 200, 223, 248, 257, 268–69, 277, 301, 321, 323–25, 332–33, 520n22
- United Auto Workers, 176, 286–87, 299, 368
- United Cloth Hat and Cap Makers' Union, 25
- United Nations, 405, 506n4; Charter of, 257–59; Commission on the Status of Women, 255–58, 260, 266–71, 282, 305, 342, 388, 507n16, 509n40, 511n53, 511n63, 520n24, 521n41, 522n52, 525n95; Convention on the Elimination of all Forms of Discrimination against Women, 396, 541n48; Convention on the Political Rights of Women, 315; Decade for Women (1976–85), 381, 390; “Decade of Development,” 339; Declaration of Mexico (1975), 389–90; Economic and Social Council, 256, 266, 271, 274, 278, 280, 317, 332, 347–48, 522n59; economic and social rights, 315–16; First World Conference on Women (1975), 338, 380, 388–394; Fourth World Conference on Women (1995), 403–5; founding conferences, 255–58, 262; Human Rights Commission, 256, 259–61, 271, 274, 278, 280–84, 403; “International Women's Year,” 388; “right to social security campaign,” 422, 548n19; Second World Conference on Women (1980), 400; Third World Conference on Women (1985), 400–2; UNWomen, 417; Vienna World Conference on Human Rights (1993), 404–5; World Plan of Action (1975), 389–90

- United States, 124–25, 285–86, 313–16, 352, 356, 371, 398, 533n53; Freedom Budget, 372; global power of, 399; imperialism of, 124–25, 128–29, 132, 138–39, 143, 182, 234–37
- Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR), 222, 250, 256, 280–84, 333, 403, 514n103, 515n115
- Universal Negro Improvement Association, 125, 179
- University of Chicago, 21–22, 54, 71, 137, 159, 180, 240
- Uralova, Evdokia, 264
- Urban League Fellowship, 327
- Uruguay, 143–4, 203
- Uruguay Women's Suffrage Alliance, 144
- US Chamber of Commerce, 121
- US Children's Bureau, 28, 162, 168–69; International Conference on Standards of Child Welfare, 48
- US Constitution: Child Labor Amendment, 110; Fourteenth Amendment, 102, 120, 172, 174, 267, 344–45, 374; Nineteenth Amendment, 4, 108, 117–18, 385, 502n62. See also Equal Rights Amendment (ERA)
- US Department of Labor, 49, 56, 111, 162, 166, 169–71, 199, 226, 342, 453n65
- US Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), 170–71, 226
- US National Recovery Administration, 162, 166–67, 181, 191
- US State Department, 261–62, 270, 317, 407, 533n52; and Anderson, 501n56; anti-Communism of, 299; and Cannon, 501n59; Cannon trip to Latin America, 234–35; and Doris Stevens, 149, 202, 217; and ERT, 216; and ILO, 356; international development policies, 340; international labor standards, 421; International Organization Employee Loyalty Board, 316; Pan-American Conference (1922), 143; Peterson, Oliver, 316–17, 321, 341; on UDHR, 281; UN founding and, 261–62; visas for Nazi victims, 226; and WTUL, 49, 53, 142
- US Supreme Court, 27, 104, 110, 120, 172, 182
- US Works Progress Administration, 166
- van Kleeck, Mary, 37, 52, 111, 116, 120, 190–92, 198, 209, 286, 453n65, 490n2, 490n4, 490n7
- Vanzetti, Bartolomeo, 103
- Veblen, Thorstein, 159
- Vietnam War, 371, 380
- Vergara, Marta, 202, 204, 497n115
- Vida Femenina* (Feminine Life), 235
- Vineyard Shore School, 114
- Waelbroeck, Pierre, 505n117
- Wagner, Robert F., 23, 161, 167, 174
- Walentynowicz, Anna, 407
- Wallace, Henry, 184
- Walling, William English, 15
- Ware, Caroline, 183–84, 228, 341, 343, 355, 375, 533n53
- Ware, Susan, 162
- Warne, Colston, 402
- Washington Post*, 342
- Waśniewska, Eugenia, 197–98
- Weaver, George, 359
- Webb, Sidney, 31
- Weber, Maria, 362, 366
- Weber, Rosa, 360
- Weeks, John D., 123
- Weidenbaum, Murray, 402–3
- Welles, Sumner, 238
- Wells, Marguerite, 495n85
- Wells-Barnett, Ida B., 24
- White, Walter, 262
- Wilkins, Roy, 350
- Wilkinson, Ellen, 264
- Wilson, Helena, 499n20
- Wilson, Paul C., 161
- Wilson, William B., 49–50
- Wilson, Woodrow, 37–39, 42, 46, 49–50, 55, 107–8, 125, 464n8, 471n14

- Winant, John G., 201, 240, 242–43
- Winslow, Mary, 216–17, 224, 231–33, 237–38, 497n116, 502n65
- With God in the World* (Brent), 159
- Wolfgang, Myra, 287
- Woll, Matthew, 278
- Woman as Force in History* (Beard), 215
- Woman Movement, The* (O'Neill), 452n47
- Women and the Labor Movement* (Henry), 136
- “Women in the World” (USDL series), 347–48
- Women on Farms, 413
- Women’s Bureau (US): American Woman and Her Changing Role Conference (1948), 292; and Anderson, 50, 122, 132, 162, 169; domestic work, 309; ERA opposition, 122; equal pay report, 348; Industrial Conference (1926), 121–22; Inter-American Division, 234; Labor Advisory Committee, 286–87; and Leopold, 314; and Mary Keyserling, 372–73; and maternity policies, 312; and F. Miller, 239, 242, 266; non-partisanship of, 523n72; and E. Peterson, 342; rate for the job, 512n76; social democratic feminism, 287; state equal pay laws priority, 287–88; and van Kleeck, 191, 220; and Winslow, 231
- Women’s Charter (WC), 190, 208–16, 219, 258, 282, 286, 496n87. See also Working Women’s Charters
- Women’s International Democratic Federation (WIDF), 265, 325–26, 388, 509n39, 526n116, 527n118
- Women’s International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF), 36, 44, 57, 85, 108, 123, 127, 483n24, 498n5
- Women’s Job Corps, 373
- Women’s Joint Congressional Committee (WJCC), 109–10, 123
- Women’s Labor Congress, 1919 (WLC), 51–69, 74, 326, 458nn5–7, 460n21, 461nn35–36, 461n40, 462nn54–55. See also International Congress of Working Women (1919)
- Women’s Labour League (British), 34, 91
- women’s liberation movement, 375, 383
- Women’s Role in Economic Development* (Boserup), 388
- Women’s Strike for Equality, 385
- Women’s Trade Union League (WTUL), 447n11; and AFL, 94–95, 474n51; Argentine relations, 141; Austrian and German relations, 100; Black membership, 30; Bondfield and Macarthur at, 44; and 1912 Cable Act, 480n72; Canadian ties, 137–38; and China, 132–33; and communism, 278; constitution of, 16; conventions, 45–47, 127; and Democratic Party, 156; diversity policies, 104–5, 110–12, 132; domestic agenda, 292; and domestic workers, 487n72, 487n74; educational program, 22; elite white Protestants in, 16; European ties, 99, 106–7; founding and founders, 15–16; and ILC, 196; immigration policy, 104; internationalism of, 18, 30–31, 35, 47, 79, 98, 124, 448n11, 458n5, 475n2; and Kenyon, 266; and Latin America, 138, 140–41, 145; leadership of, 17, 24, 26, 54, 81; low income women priority, 219; Mexican relations, 142–43; and NWP, 117–18, 122, 150; NY minimum wage campaign, 180; Oriental Committee, 128; platform of, 16–17, 472n27; political party identifications, 17–18; post WWI goals, 102–3; post WWI positions, 81; and PPWA, 134–35; race relations, 229; and Schneiderman, 47; and Soviet Union, 81; third IFWW proposal (1923), 91–92; treatment by male labor leaders, 84; US national office closes (1950), 286; and Wilson administration, 49; and WJCC, 109; on Women’s Charter, 209–10; women congress proposal (1919), 47; World War I and, 35, 37–38; and WWII, 224–25, 498n5; and YWCA, 28–29. See also British WTUL; Equal Rights Amendment (ERA); Equal Rights Treaty (ERT); International Labor Organization (ILO); Paris Peace Conference

- Women's Trade Union League, Chicago, 20
Women's Trade Union League, Philadelphia, 54
Women's Trade Union League, NY, 23–25, 157, 180–81, 350, 482n4
Women Strike for Peace (WSP), 385, 538n15
Woodsmall, Ruth, 265
Woodward, C. Vann, 334
Working-class women: barriers to internationalism, 53–54; WTUL leadership in, 16, 50
Working Women's Charters, 38–39, 42–44, 51–52, 62–64, 365. See also Women's Charter (WC)
World Anti-Slavery Convention (1840), 68
World Federation of Trade Unions, 245, 274–75, 278, 320
World Social Forum, 417–18
World Trade Organization, 403
World War I, 6, 10, 29–30, 35, 37–42. See also Treaty of Versailles
World War II, 220, 223–25, 227, 230–31, 233
World Woman's Party, 219, 258, 260, 266, 497n104
World YWCA, 28, 85–86, 128, 130, 132, 146, 207, 265, 391, 401
Wu Yi-Fang, 257
Wyatt, Addie, 343
Young, Ruth, 187
Young India (journal), 59–60
Young Women's Christian Association (YWCA), 26, 28–29, 55, 110–11, 128–29, 264, 349–50. See also World YWCA
Young Women's Christian Association, Industrial Department, 29, 48–49, 55, 108, 111, 113
Yunus, Muhammad, 411
Zayas Bazan, Laura G. de, 86, 89, 140–41, 479n56
Zetkin, Clara, 34, 101, 276
Zimmerman, Charles "Sasha," 227, 367
Zimmermann, Susan, 146
Zung Wei-Tsung, 86–87, 131